

HENLEY SOCIETY Report for Annual Town Meeting 2010

The HENLEY SOCIETY, established more than 40 years ago, continued this last year as in all previous years to be true to its roots of being watchful about the heritage of the town and district.

Its aims of supporting and promoting conservation and the application of sensitivity to new developments have been pursued rigorously. The dedicated Planning Committee meet every two weeks and seriously considers every plan in detail and reports with unfailing regularity its findings to SODC.

Although SODC has plans to alter its consultative procedures the Society's still intends to remain involved and is determined to do its utmost to remain true to its origins.

As in times past the society has arranged events and organised visits to several places of historic, architectural and heritage value all of which have been appreciated. Currently in hand are visits to Dorchester with Poundbury and Hampton Court.
