

The Henley Herald www.henleyherald.com, the online community news website for Henley has continued to grow during 2014 both in number of visitors, community content and news.

Through the Henley Business Partnership we were awarded an SODC Infrastructure Community Grant to develop the website. This has been used to add community information e.g. Transport, Health etc, a free business directory for Henley Businesses and a new look home page with a Twitter feed.

The number of news contributors from all areas of the community is also growing from local charities, sports clubs, schools, community groups and local businesses. They have access to the website to post their own stories (in their own words) and photos which are then moderated by the Editor. If you would like to become a news contributor, Michaela would love to hear from you, please email her at news@henleyherald.com

The running of the website is funded by sponsors and the Herald would like to thank Brakspears, Hotel du Vin, TGS Taylorcocks, The Head Partnership, Meadows Farm Studios, Back in Line, Neomartek, Jack's Gallery and Laurence Menswear for their support over the last year.

As well as news, there is a comprehensive Events Calendar which gives details of all the events going on in Henley.

All news stories are tweeted @henleyherald and shared on Facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/HenleyHerald>. The website has also been developed to work on all size of smartphones and tablets.

You can subscribe to the Henley Herald for FREE by submitting your email on the website. Subscribers get a Daily Digest of News published each day. Every story can also be commented on for readers to give their opinions. These are moderated by the Editor. If you want to get something off your chest or tell people about something – we now have a 'Have Your Say' section for these articles. Email news@henleyherald.com to have your article published.

The Henley Herald is committed to supporting all of the community including local businesses, community groups, schools, local charities and sports clubs by spreading their news.
